

Farewell My Crazy Love

Words & Music by Joe LaMay

Farewell my crazy love your ship has found the sea
On courses set for foreign lands of my sweet memory
Don't think about the times when we were on our knees
Just go your way and live your days in windy harmony

When skies are red and clouds are low and tears come to you eyes
Don't lose you faith in love - don't lose your mind
Let the winds of changes blow and let your sadness die
Tomorrow brings another sun - another chance to fly

I'll climb the hill to watch your sails as you drift out to sea
And pray the winds will blow you hard as they have done to me
Dreams will come and dreams will go like sailors on the main
And time may come when you and I will fill our sails again

*The call of love is nothing more than drifting on the sea
The waves will crash upon the shore and time will set you free
But please - remember me*

Farewell my crazy love your ship has found the sea
On courses set for foreign lands of my sweet memory
Don't think about the times when we were on our knees
Just go your way and live your days in windy harmony

©1978 Joe LaMay, Pressed For Time, BMI. All rights reserved.