

COLIN'S SONG

Words & Music by Sherri Reese

I know tomorrow you'll be going
And I'll just have to find a way to pass the time
In the morning when the sun begins to rise
Just remember me when you see that sun shine

You're going 'cross this country far and wide
And I won't see those bright blue eyes for a long long while
But at least I know that sun I see in the sky
Is the very same one that's shining in your eyes

*He surely is a God of love
'Cause he made the sun the moon and the stars above
The very same ones that you see
The very same ones that shine on me*

You won't see me cry when you leave
I don't want tears to dampen the memory you have of me
So I'll give you my sunniest of smiles
To take along with you across those many miles

*He surely is a God of love
'Cause he made the sun the moon and the stars above
The very same ones that you see
The very same ones that shine on me*

I know tomorrow you'll be going

©2000 Sherri Reese, Pressed For Time, BMI. All rights reserved.

Released on:

Joe LaMay & Sherri Reese

Heaven

(2002)

What the Woof? Music